GABRIEL ULAYOK

Relief Production Operator and Auxiliary Operator

MEADOWBANK GOLD MINE, AGNICO EAGLE

Gabriel Ulayok works as relief production operator and auxiliary operator at the Meadowbank mine, near Baker Lake.

Before joining Agnico Eagle, Gabriel worked two jobs at once including as a student support assistant with the elementary school as well as an after-hour sewage and water truck operator. To become a better truck driver, Gabriel took a heavy equipment training course in Morrisburg, Ontario. This led him to joining Agnico Eagle, which provided him with the opportunity to participate in multiple training programs to advance his career path within the mine department.

He gradually worked his way from various types of heavy-duty equipment such as the haul truck, wheel dozer, and different types of loaders.

Due to his progression, Gabriel is currently a relief production operator and auxiliary operator at Meadowbank. His job allowed him the chance to follow in his late father's footsteps by operating big machines.

He hopes to keep his progression going and one day become an auxiliary supervisor. Gabriel's advice to someone starting out at Agnico Eagle, like him, or even elsewhere is to always show up for work on time, respect supervisors, talking it through with friends when problems arise, and participate in any type of training available.
